FOR THE SATURDAY EVENING POST.

I had a dream, which was not all a dream.—BYRON.

I pressed my couch—the curtain of the night
Had shut out living objects from my sight:
A deep profoundness on me, and I lay Aidless and motionless; and passed away
Was every joy and pain; and late and love,
All was in vain; and I was left alone
And while I lay, and with this dark sleep
A vision came upon me, and my fancy
And mellow voice did bid my fancy spring
From its dark chamber, and on wildest wing
From thro' the fields of ether, gathering
From flowers on earth, and from birds a song,
Sweeter than those which to the earth belong,
And fancies spring to life, and then the vision
Married heaven and earth, and a world unknown
Where heaven seemed merged with a brighter zone:
Where a crescent threw a purer beam
On the clear current of a sweeter stream
Than ever in my waking view had rolled
Its waves so blue, so transparently cold—
The forest was deeper, deeper, and yet
The forest with the winter stern had met,
The foliage still threw forth its brightest sheen,
Shining like the sun, and like an evergreen.
And here the spirit paused, and bade me rest
My weary soul on the green sward's breast,
While voices from the forest and the lake,
Of voices songsters did the silence break,
And softer than where winter spreads her snows,
My spirit listened while the chant arose.
Oh! sweetly, sweetly, may he rest
Who knows his knee at the shrine of beauty,
His head is cradled on her breast,
And in her passionate arms caress.
He waits to pleasure and to love at duty,
His beauty shall fade with the summer's sun,
And the course of pleasure is quick run.
And sweetly, sweetly, the poet dreams
Of life's dreams and the world's approving,
Of heaven upon him beams,
And his fancy roams in mystic gleams
Of life's dreams, too bright for loving.
For he is now, his cherished name,
Sings but dimly forth from the scroll of fame.
Oh! would'st thou gain for thyself a doom,
The best to roam on this spot forever,
Where the blushing dews eternally bloom,
And on the wave and the gale their perfume,
Then offer thyself to the Holy Giver?
So shall thy spirit when life is o'er,
Be blessed with the raptures of a sphere.
The spirit and my dream was sped,
And I lay in my slumber deep,
And the morning sun's light
Did the morning sun's light
Did the morning sun's light

FOR THE SATURDAY EVENING POST.

To Mr. R. P. L., of Newport, R. I.

O forget not him who in sadness roves,

Far from the friends and the home of his youth,

From the green cover'd meadows and willow-tree

groves,

And streams gliding pure as the waters of truth.

Far away from his much-loved beautiful isle,

And the billows that play round its shore in gladness,

To where—instead of affection's smile,

He meets but the look of care and sadness.

And forget not the hours we've spent in viewing,

With eyes that were beaming in friendship's ray,

Fair nature, in freshness, brightly strewn

Her flowers around the gay path of May.

How oft have we strayed with footsteps light,

On the hills that overlook the far spreading main;

Where the billows roll in their stormy might,

Still striving the rocky height to gain.

And there too they sleep when the tempest is o'er,

Or faintly stirring the ocean weeds,

Which stretch their streaming leaves on shore,

Around the rocks where the muscle feeds.

And there, with hearts from sorrow free,

We gathered the shells and pebbles off,

That lay along where the briny sea

Unceasing flows with murmurs soft.

Or on the blue main far off we espied,

In sunshine glowing, some whiten'd sheet,

That seem'd upon the distant tide

A pearly car for fairy meet.

Or seem'd as though that bark might be,

Soft gliding on to some isle of rest;

To fulfil its sail in another sea,

Where weary spirits are sweetly blest.

Or when soft thoughts around us mov'd,

Where the sandy floor in smoothness lay,

We fondly trac'd the names we lov'd,

Which the envious tide still wash'd away.

Still wash'd away—alas, how true

An emblem it was of death's cold wave,

Which ever delights to sweep from view

The forms—oh! 'twere bliss to save.

That wave wet shore—the meadows so green,

The verdant fields, and hills, and groves,

Are all there yet, as when they were seen

By him, who now far from them roves.

Yet all is not as it was before,

Eyes of mildness, and lips of truth,

And looks that angels might have wore,

Have fled in the sweetness of blooming youth.

Gone! gone! forever is one—than whom

On earth no being was dearer;

Oh, how lov'd! and how wept—yet the tomb

Hath but made her to angels nearer.

Forget not him—tho' storms may rage—

Whose star of hope looks far and dim,

Whose lessons are written on sorrow's page,

And painful ones—Oh, remember him.

MORAL AND RELIGIOUS.

PUBLIC WORSHIP.—Scarcely any practice

can be named that is more indecent than whispering, laughing, or in any way giving needless or designed interruption at the time and place of public worship. Not to mention the atheistical profanity of such conduct, it is the grossest insult upon all the serious part of the assembly; and it plainly discovers that the offender, besides being devoid of religion, is ignorant of the rules of good breeding, violates them wilfully, and with insufferable insolence.

True piety and real devotion can only spring

from a just knowledge of God and of ourselves; and the relation we stand to him. For when we consider ourselves as the creatures of God,

whom he made for his honour, and as creatures incapable of any happiness, but what results from his favour, and entirely dependent upon him for every thing we have and hope for; whilst we bear this thought in our mind, what can more prompt or induce us to love and fear, and trust him as our God, our Father, and all sufficient Friend and Helper?

FOR THE SATURDAY EVENING POST.

interfere with the conscience of our brother or sister, especially when that brother or sister may be compared to way marks for virtue, morality and religion, and whose time and energies are employed for the unrequited service of their fellow creatures.

The spirit that is ever so ardent the watch to find fault with, and to criticise the flowing words of such benevolent persons, cannot proceed from the right fountain; it is mixed with the spirit of this world, and is composed of errors, malice and bitterness; if, therefore, friends would examine their hearts by the bright light of illuminated reason, I trust they would feel condemnation there. I appeal to some of you, my friends, have you not felt it already? I think I can answer for you in the affirmative.

Belief is the result of conviction; we cannot believe what we choose to believe, therefore as we must all agree, that no two men think alike, nor can the power of man produce uniformity of belief. Charles the V. king of Spain, who for many years deluged the fields of Europe with blood, in order to establish the catholic religion, having at last abdicated his crown retired to a convent, where he lived as a private gentleman; his historian says, "he was particularly curious with regard to the construction of clocks and watches; and having found after repeated trials, that he could not bring any two of them to go exactly alike, he reflected it is said, with a mixture of surprise as well as regret, on his own folly, in having bestowed so much time and labour, in the vain attempt of bringing mankind to a precise uniformity of sentiment, concerning the profound and mysterious doctrines of religion."

Since then, my friends, we cannot all think alike, nor believe exactly alike, though the differences among us may be trifling and unimportant, would it not be right for each one to look at home, and to keep in a humble frame of mind:

let us remember, that without humility, real unaffected humility, there can be no religion; that if we are truly humble, we shall see our own infirmities in such a light that we shall shrink

from the idea of setting ourselves up in judgment upon others.

Humility is tender, and compassionate, and judicious.

But I would ask you, my friends, if you have not discovered among you a false spirit of pretended humility—a humility that would raise the creature above the Creator—a humility that resembles "the pride that apes humility;" if you have, let me entreat you to guard against it—the very apprehension of such a spirit has done, and will continue to do, more essential injury to the society, than all the aberrations of dress and address among the young people do.

COWPER.

Every one who has made man his study, and acquired any knowledge of the variety of his habitations, or of the different degrees of his existence, will be sensible, that in order to the correction of his conduct, it is necessary to be acquainted with the moralist that the temperate use of Spirituous Liquors is the most baneful of all others. This, truly, is a most desolating evil—

one that poisons the cup of life to countless thousands of the human race—producing more extensive and complicated mischiefs than any other source of misery to which mankind are liable—and as long as the cheapness of this destructive article and the multiplied opportunities that are thrown in the way of the poorer classes, continue, there is but a forlorn hope of the condition of this part of the community receiving any melioration.

For such is the effect of this intoxicating bowl,

and such are the numerous temptations held forth,

that a man must have morthan common firmness

"MOTHERS CAN DO GREAT THINGS."

A clergyman, now fulfilling the duties of his office punctually, ardently, and faithfully, was asked, when examined by the bishop's chaplain, whether he had made divinity his study—he replied he had not particularly: "but," said he,

"my mother taught me the Scriptures." "Ah!"

said the chaplain, "Mothers can do great things!"

The young man was examined with respect to the extent of his knowledge, was approved, ordained,

and desired to preach before the bishop.

Mothers may perceive how necessary and useful are their pious instructions, and be encouraged, while their husbands are busily engaged in providing for their families the meat that perisheth, to be diligent, bringing up their offspring in the knowledge of the Scriptures, as the mother of Timothy did. This anecdote may also lead reflecting parents to consider what ought to be the education of their daughters, that they may become such mothers; for on the education of daughters depends the future welfare not only of families, but of our country.

The excellent mother alluded to in the above

anecdote, wrote as follows to another of her sons, on hearing of the birth of his eldest child—Give him an education, that his life may be useful;

teach him religion, that his death may be happy!"

VERY LATE FROM LIMA.

BALTIMORE, March 16.—By the arrival of the fast sailing brig Thessalian, Wm. H. Conkling, from Lima, we have received the latest intelligence from that and the adjacent ports. The Thessalian has performed her voyage in considerably less time than any other vessel that has ever cleared from this port; having been only 79 days from Lima, and 24 from off the town of Parnamuco, making an average of 64 knots an hour and a total of 12,050 miles. We are indebted to Captain Conkling for a list of vessels spoken, as also for other information which he politely furnished us. Lieut. Babbitt, who arrived at Lima in the Panther, of Boston, came passenger in the Thessalian, to whose politeness we are indebted for a very large file of Lima papers, and for much information; the Panther, it was supposed, would be sold, as she was thought unseaworthy.

At Lima the greatest disorder prevailed, nothing but robbery and disaffection characterised the natives. Foreigners were murdered with the greatest impunity, and so imbecile is the administration, that anarchy predominates over all civil tribunals. A mass of government paper had been issued, which had depreciated fifty per cent.—This currency, it was thought, would soon give way to a new order of affairs, and a specie medium be restored, but from whence it was to come was a question that no one could answer, there being none in the adjacent country. So disorganized is the government of Lima, and so perfectly bare of the means to pay the military, that the road from that place to Callao, although a distance of only 7 miles is so completely infested by robbers, that no one suspected of having money can pass with safety. This road is as public as any street in Callao, being the only passage from it to Lima, and yet, so regardless are the banditti of government interference, that they murder and rob at noon day. Captain Conkling, was robbed on this road of his watch and all the money he had about him.

The markets are miserably dull for American produce, and for all articles of clothing. Flour was offered at $9, but as from 9 to 10,000 bushels had arrived, that sum could not be obtained, nor was it certain that the holders would be enabled to sell at all. German and French goods could not be sold unless at a great loss, and from the many arrivals which were calculated on, no hopes could be entertained of better prices for a great length of time.

The royal troops under Contreras were about 40 leagues distance from Lima, in considerable force, and fears were entertained that he would again be in possession of Lima. Pisco and all the ports to the southward, are still in possession of the Royalists, and from the first accounts from the intermedios, Valdez the Spanish General was very confident of success should he meet the Patriotic forces. The Royalists had lately despatched a brig from the intermedios to the Governor of Chiloe with arms, money, &c. The forces under Valdez are estimated at about 5000 men, and those under Contreras at about 7000, including a few Indians. The Franklin 74, Com. Stuart, sailed from Quica, (a port in the intermedios) for Valparaiso about the first of December, with two ships, tenders and the ships Canton, Sullivan, and Choney, Little, and brig Dick of Baltimore. On the night of 7th December, the Peruvian brig of war Bellona, (formerly the Warrior of New-York), was taken possession of by the crew, the cables cut and the brig carried out to sea. The brig had on board, money, clothing, &c. for the Patriotic army at the intermedios. A few minutes before this vessel got under weigh, the crew, being principally Americans made out their bills for their wages, and sent them ashore directed to the governor, with a note, in which they stated, that they had been in the employment of government for two years, without receiving compensation, and that the vessel which they then had possession of, should be paid the amount due to them and should accordingly take her. It was supposed that they committed piratical depredations on all vessels—they had on board water and provisions for 3 months. The U. S. schooner Dolphin, and his B. M. brig Alacrity sailed early next morning in pursuit, but returned without seeing her. On the 10th of December an embargo was laid on all shipping in the harbour of Callao—the object of which was to select a sufficient number of transports to take troops to some port to the southward—this embargo was partially raised when the Thessalian sailed.

The Supreme Junta of Peru has decreed that Don Bernando, Secretary of State and Foreign Relations, be forever expelled from the Republic, as a traitor to his country. The cause of this expulsion is not mentioned.

The Congress of Peru have decreed that the Empire shall in future be styled, THE PERUVIAN REPUBLIC.

FROM SOUTH AMERICA.—

The following is an extract of a letter from an Officer on board the United States' schooner Dolphin, dated

CALLAO, December 26.

You have perhaps heard before this will reach you of the great earthquake at Valparaiso, which occurred on the 19th of last month. Slight convulsions have continued almost daily from that time to our last arrivals. Yesterday a vessel arrived here from Valparaiso, the captain of which states, that he felt a severe shock while weighing anchor, and another after he was five leagues from the port. The American Consul and family were living on board a vessel at Valparaiso. There has been for the last two or three days, great rejoicings, illuminations, &c. at Lima, in consequence of recent information from the Patriotic army at Arica. It is asserted that a powerful Indian Chief, has espoused the patriotic cause, and joined them with 4000 Indians, bringing with him 200 head of cattle and $200,000. Infantry and cavalry have been going out from Lima in small numbers for the last month. About 4000 of Bolivar's troops and a considerable body of militia remain in the city. The last accounts left the royal troops in the valley of Samanos, but a short distance from the patriots. It is thought the latter will not risk a general engagement until they receive sufficient reinforcement to render victory certain. This meeting of the contending armies will no doubt, if the patriots are successful, put an end to the war in Peru. Should it prove otherwise, which is hardly probable, it may protract the war for years.

Extract of a letter, dated

PORT AU PRINCE, Feb. 8.

Since my last to you nothing material has occurred, more than a complete stagnation of business. Money has become extremely scarce, and our markets are completely overstocked with American and all kinds of foreign produce, adding to this the late distressing fire, which has bereft us of almost all our wholesome buildings, and thrown the greater part of our affluent merchants into a state of poverty; all this may in some measure account for this last season. The first day of January last, being the 20th anniversary of the Haytian republic, was celebrated throughout the republic with every demonstration of joy; the day was ushered in by the discharge of artillery and the ringing of bells; orations proper for the occasion were delivered at Cape Haytien, Aux Cayes, Gonaives, Jacmel, &c. &c. by the officers commanding. The tenor of the orations was extremely patriotic, and replete with good advice to the citizens, calling on the indolent to cultivate the soil, and encouraging the industrious agriculturalists that government duly appreciated their services—fathers were exhorted to bring their children up in the ways of virtue and honor, to the laws of their country. After the orations were finished, the air was rent with the exclamations, Vive la Republique, Vive la Republique, Vive la Republique, Vive la Republique! After attending mass at church, the day was closed with a heavy discharge of artillery, without the smallest accident. The President has done, and is now doing, every thing in his power to aid the unfortunate in again rebuilding. The fact, very few can form an adequate idea of the firmness and decision, as well as the sound judgment he exercises over these people. He has recently removed most of the collectors at the different ports, finding, no doubt, they grew rather experienced in business. One other thing may be observed relative to the cause of the present stagnation of business, viz. the unfortunate but inherent disposition these people have towards indolence, has caused a very great diminution of the crops, and so low an ebb, that they must either turn to work or starve. And the customs trade are so obnoxious to the welfare of the country, (I mean the credit system) that it gives every evil disposed person an opportunity of obtaining credit, and then, if not disposed to pay you, should you go to law and obtain judgment, so long a time is given him without any security to pay you, that you might as well give it to him. There is no such thing as cash business it only exists in name. At the present time the treasury is at an unusually low ebb. Tranquillity reigns throughout the republic, and the utmost satisfaction in the administration of Boyer is manifested by all classes of people.

DESTRUCTION OF SCIO.

The following extract from a letter from the Rev. H. Leves, dated Constantinople, Oct. 26th, 1822, published in the monthly Extracts from the correspondence of the British and Foreign Bible Society (31st December, 1822), will serve better than a hundred arguments to exhibit the principle of Holy Alliance in its true light.

"We proceeded from Vorla to Scio, where we had an opportunity of witnessing the melancholy and utter desolation which has befallen this beautiful and once flourishing island. I could not have conceived without being an eye witness, that destruction could have been rendered so complete. We walked through the town, which was handsome, and built entirely of stone, and found the houses, the churches, the hospitals, the extensive college where a few months ago six or seven hundred youths were receiving their education, one mass of ruins. On every side were strewn fragments of half burnt books, manuscripts, clothes, and furniture, and what was most shocking to the feelings, numerous human bodies mouldering in the spots where they fell. Nothing that had life was to be seen but a few miserable half-starved dogs and cats. The villages have shared the same fate, and of a population of 150,000 Greeks, there remain perhaps 800 or 1000 individuals scattered through the most distant villages. To the town nothing has escaped but the Consul's houses, and a very few adjoining them which could not be burnt without the consulates."

From the painful sight of these dreadful effects of unbridled human passions, we were a little refreshed by visiting, in the afternoon, the country house of the British vice-consul Signior Guiducci, who during the sack of Scio, humanely received all the unfortunate creatures who fled to him for protection, and has redeemed many others from slavery. He has a little colony of 207 Scioes, chiefly women and children, huddled in his garden and premises, whom he feeds at his own expense, and who, under the British flag, have found protection amidst the wreck of their country. Their food, at present, consists chiefly of the figs and grapes, which are now common property, there being no hands to gather in the fruits of the soil; but, as this supply will soon fail, we have since our return, commenced a subscription among the English residents at Constantinople, who have been ever ready to meet similar calls upon their benevolence, to supply the want of food for the winter months. I mean to add, on the part of the Bible Society, a donation of Greek Testaments; and have written to Smyrna, to desire that a sufficient number of copies may be sent to furnish the refugees both at the British and other consulates."

High Life behind the Scenes.—Under the head of Madrid marriages, we find in an English paper the following matrimonial particulars from that capital:—

"The Countess La Sala, is at last married to the Count de Fuentes. This lady appeared on the stage for the first time after her marriage on the 17th of December. It was reserved for the revolution to exhibit the countess of a Grandee of Spain performing on the theatre. She sang in the opera of Zaira, and received a much applause as on the day of her debut. The pit obliged her to come forward three times on the stage to receive the applause of the public. La Sala, Countess of Fuentes, has given up for the benefit of the Foundling Hospital, the emoluments which may accrue to her as an actress from the day of her marriage to the close of her engagement."

"The Conde de Tre Alta, an officer of the Guards, who has been arrested since the affair of the 7th of July, has also just married the daughter of La Billa, a celebrated milliner. The nuptials were celebrated in the prison. There is this singularity in the latter marriage, that it is regarded as an act of despair.—The mother of the Count de Torre Alta has, in consequence of her violent principles (favour of the revolution, often forgotten not only laws of humanity, but it might be said even laws of blood. Her son being a decided royalist, wished to bequeath all her property, to her in-law. This is now impossible, because the Count has two children by the woman he has married, who are now legitimate."

FIRE AT CANTON.—The following particulars relative to the destruction at Canton has been received by an arrival Boston.

"The fire has consumed all the buildings or factories as they are called, belonging to foreigners, but three which are 65 out of 68. The fire was the suburbs of the city. None of the houses of the Chinese were destroyed Messrs. Perkins & Co. had their factory burned. The principal part of the manufactory belonging to them was in the Cane pack houses.—The British East India Company's factory was destroyed. The whole number of buildings destroyed were 11,000. One of the Hong Merchant's about eight hundred thousand dollars, equal to a million of dollars. This forty thousand chests of tea burned, much other property lost and plundered."

Among the sufferers Mr. Pitman, a young man of Boston had, for many years, kept a Hotel one of the Factory Buildings, and acquired a handsome property, it being the establishment of the kind there.

The houses at Canton are built of Bamboo. They are one story high, and contiguous, and the lanes streets are only a few feet wide. Such things extend as far as the sight can reach. The Factories were two or three stories high, built of bricks, and finished in European style.

and as there is not much humanity or ability among the Chinese, it is supposed they could not find shelter or support any where.

Extract of a letter from Madrid, dated Dec. 28th.

WILD WOMAN.—A true to politics for one day, and let us sympathize with the charming fair ones of Madrid, who are dying to see the wild woman that has lately been found in the Sierra de Montero, a desolate and rude range of mountains in the south. She had been seen occasionally by the goatherds as they wandered through the mountains. The tale at length reached Cordova, and the authorities sent officers in pursuit of her. They succeeded in apprehending her, and she is now in one of the public hospitals of that city. She is not altogether destitute of understanding, nor ignorant of language, as she can say a few words, such as papa, gato, a cat, campo, the country, and some few others. When she was asked if she would like to return to the country, she nodded her head in the affirmative. She eats whatever is given to her, but prefers uncooked meats and vegetables. In the beginning cooked victuals did not agree with her and made her sick; she eats with extraordinary appetite. Her clothes appear as they were placed on a stick; her arms were tied, because she was ever tearing her shoes, in spite of every care that was taken to prevent her. Sometimes she has thrown off all her garments, and runs out quite naked into the kitchen garden. She has been found after an interval of two days coiled up in a place of mire, and at another time she has been discovered in the dunghill of the stable. She is about 16 years old, of a short stature, a deep brown complexion, protruding lips, and so rough as almost in appearance to resemble that of a wolf. She sleeps by day as well as night, without any regularity, and generally coiled up. Sometimes her sleep has continued for 28 hours successively, either in bed or on the ground, with or without covering. She keeps her eyes mostly closed, and when she is alone she cries for three hours together, and the next three she laughs. The Duke de Riva, the Constitutional Alcalde of Cordova, has taken a great deal of trouble to find the origin of this female, but it has baffled all his enquiries, and he has given them up in despair. It is supposed she belongs to parents not less wild than herself, who are still undiscovered in the mountains."

FROM THE SIDNEY (NEW HOLLAND) GAZETTE, MAY 24.

Extraordinary death.—The following is the melancholy end of Capt. West of the Indian whaler, which visited Port Jackson in March, 1821, to refit, and resumed her voyage in the ensuing month.—Capt. Moore, of the Woodlark, informs us, that the unfortunate Commander spoken of, was heading his boat as usual one day, about three months since, off New-Zealand, when the frail bark was stove in by a blow from the whale to which they were fast, and the animal, almost at the same instant, seized Capt. West by the middle of the body, and nearly tore him asunder. He was immediately picked up and taken on board, when the vessel made for the land; and the hapless mariner, scarcely alive, in a wretchedly mangled condition, was conveyed on shore, where all assistance that could be rendered, was promptly afforded; but, in four days after the accident, Capt. West entered the eternal world.

Singular Traveller.—A letter from Sierra Leone, dated Nov. 23, says:—"I entertained at dinner, yesterday, an extraordinary traveller as per European subject at present, and a Christian. He travelled from Fez to Tripoli through Fezzan, Agadey Morokko, to Ashantee and Cape Coast, where he took shipping for Sierra Leone. He is a very intelligent man, appears to have been accustomed to good company, and is well acquainted with all the Mediterranean sea, in which he at one time commanded a vessel. He has not yet made up his mind whether he will walk back, or take a passage to England; but evidently leans to the former mode of getting home."

The Sierra Leone Gazette, of November 24, contains a narrative of the journey of Captain Alexander Laing, of the Royal African Light Infantry, to a great distance into the interior of Africa, where he saw the bill from which the mysterious Niger (there called Temble) springs. It is in 9 deg. 15 min. N. lat. and 9 deg. 36 min. W. long. Captain Laing opened a trade with several tribes before unknown."

Loss of another Steam Boat.—The paper from Baton Rouge, of February 8, gives an account of the loss of the Steam Boat Alexandria, on its way up the Mississippi. On about 11 at night, the first after having left New Orleans, the boat ran afoul of some drift wood, which started the timber so that she sprung a leak. The wheels were also somewhat injured. The boat was then put about, for the purpose of running her ashore. After going about eight miles she went on a sand-bar, when in a sinking condition. The passengers, (about 40, and nearly as many slaves) were put ashore, and the hands began to take out the cargo, but unaccountably desisted without effecting much, and in a few hours afterwards, she sunk to her upper deck. During the confusion, a dispute arose between the mate and a gentleman from Alexandria, who was the owner of a part of the cargo, in consequence of the little pains that was taken to secure the goods. The result was, that the mate was stabbed in several places—but whether mortally, or not, was not known.

CHARLESTON, MARCH 9.—Capt. Ross, arrived on Saturday from Kingston and Havana, brings the information that, just before he left the latter place, a boat with eight men had arrived at the Riglas. They had escaped being captured by the United States' schooner Revenge, Lieut. Levy. The story current in Havana, coming from these men, was, that the Revenge came across their schooner, (a piratical vessel) a short time ago, off the Isle of Pines, and that an action commenced between the two vessels, which they say lasted for four hours. The Revenge proved too much for the pirate; and the captain, with one arm shot off, and seven men, took to their boat to save themselves, and got into the harbour of Havana. A great many were killed and wounded on board their vessel, which the Revenge succeeded in securing. The prize is said to be named the Hebe, and was cut out of Havana some time ago, and fitted out as a piratical cruiser. She mounted one long gun, and had a crew of fifty men.

GERMANY.

At Great Magdeburg, now Magdeburg, the lightning struck the spire of a Church, by which the whole building was finally reduced to ashes. After the top of the spire had fallen, a number of persons repaired to the north side of the tower to view the conflagration in the interior, through a door which opened into the church. At this moment a part of the wall of the tower, forty feet high, and four feet thick, fell in, and the whole building was

As some boys were playing with arms, near Fredericktown, (Md.) on Monday, the 11th inst., a musket was discharged, and accidentally, and lodged the whole contents in the left breast of one of the company who expired instantly.

The Chataque paper, published at Elizabethtown, N. Y. says the merchants of that village are giving five shillings per bushel for wheat. For the last three years the price has not varied from 50 cents a bushel.

Cotton from Illinois.—A quantity of cotton from the state of Illinois, has been transported to Baltimore. It is the first importation of the kind from that state.

Cato Hardin, charged with the murder of Catharine Cline, has been tried and acquitted at Union, (Penn.)

Salt Water.—A person at Wheeling, Va. has penetrated a rock seven hundred and fifty feet, in search of salt water, and found a vein at the depth of 440 feet, not sufficiently large for his purpose, but bores by horse power, at one-fourth the usual expense. At 500 feet deep he passed through a thin stratum of stone called The rock still presents the same appearance that it did near the surface of the earth.

On the 9th inst. two huts on the plantation of Mrs. Sarah Mitchell, St. Anne Parish, S. C. were struck by lightning and eleven negroes killed.

A man, by name John Thomas, living in Franklin County, Penn. recently left his home with the intention of returning before night, but got bewildered on the South Mountain, and perished through cold and fatigue. He wandered about sixteen or twenty miles, over steep and rocky mountains, which were covered with snow from fifteen to eighteen inches deep. He never halted in his route till within the last half mile, and then he laid down and always bent to the ground, and bushes with leaves to lie on—an evidence that he retained his senses to the last.

On the 27th ult. a little girl near Quebec, who had been sick some days, lost every sign of life and motion, and was supposed to be dead. Owing to the indigent circumstances of the parents, the interment did not take place on the day intended, and twenty-four hours afterwards, signs of life were discovered. She continued in that state ten days, when she actually expired.

On the 27th of February, a man named M'Grath, residing in the Bay of Quinte, Upper Canada, went to a tavern in the neighbourhood, and having staid rather late, concluded to remain through the night, with his friends. During the night the house caught fire, and so rapid was the progress of the flames, that M'Grath perished before any alarm could be given. He has left five young orphan children.

Permission having been obtained from the guardians of young Napoleon, and the necessary arrangements made, the legation at Paris, requested by Bonaparte, to several persons in France, have been paid by the French government. It will be recollected that these funds were deposited with Lafitte the Banker, previous to Bonaparte's second abdication.

It appears that Mr. M'Duffie and Co. Elmore, his second, have rendered themselves quite popular by the transactions of the last season. Mr. M'Duffie was re-elected to Congress by a large majority over two popular rival candidates, and Capt. Elmore has been elected Major General of the 3d division of South Carolina Militia—50 votes to 1.

At New-Orleans, on the 15th ult. the mercury was up to 60—next day it was down to 12, and ice made four inches thick!

The Parliament of Upper Canada has decided, after a full discussion of the question, that Marshal Bidwell, son of Barnabas Bidwell, formerly of Massachusetts, was eligible to a seat in the house of representatives, for which he had been a candidate, although he was born in the United States, since the Independence, and had not been naturalized as a British subject by any act of Parliament.

Col. Brevoort, of Detroit, has received a letter from the Secretary of the Navy, accompanied by a silver Medal, with appropriate devices commemorative of the glorious battle of Lake Erie, in which he was efficiently engaged, under the command of Perry.

At the present term of the Supreme Court, at Newport, (R. I.) Edmund Briggs and Edmund Briggs, jun. (father and son) were tried for the crime of manslaughter, and both found Guilty.

It is already announced that the author of the Waverley novels has another interesting work in hand—name not given.

A new Steam Boat, Columbus, has commenced running on the Alabama river; she made her first trip to Cahawba on the 15th ult. The Press says, "The Columbus is the largest boat ever in our waters, is 154 feet long, and measures 450 tons; has accommodations for 40 to 50 passengers; her engine is on the low or condensing principle, of 76 horse power, and cost whole of the best workmanship, and cost 80,000 dollars.

As the steam-boat Commerce was a few days since, on the eve of departure from Charleston for Hamburg, S. C. it was ascertained that a sugar hoghead, filled with gunpowder, had been shipped in her, and

The increase of Quebec, in 1822, compared with the year 1821, was twenty-seven thousand, navigated by twenty vessels, and the value of goods paying duties, was 1,761,000 francs, or 352,200 dollars, an increase of half per cent. also expected for 1823.

On Monday, the 11th inst., a fire broke out at the residence of a gentleman in the city, which was caused by the property of Edmund Roberts, who had been appointed by the President of the United States, to be the agent of the State of Tennessee, to negotiate the purchase of the land of Gen. Andrew Jackson.

The elegant domestic dress hat, sold in this city, has been found to be a counterfeit of the one worn by Gen. Andrew Jackson. It is said that the person who sold it, was pardoned by the State of New York, for forging a signature.

The increase of tonnage cleared from Quebec, in 1822, compared with 1821, was thirty-seven thousand four hundred and thirty, navigated by 2181 men. The value of goods paying a duty of two and an half per cent. also exceeds that of the preceding year, by 176,116 pounds currency.

On Monday, a stranger offered for sale, at Elizabethtown, N.J. a silver coffin plate, bearing the following inscription:—"Benjamin Lindsay—Obit. Octob. 15th, 1804—aged 48." The person who offered the plate, stated that he picked it up in the street the day before.

A fire broke out at Ballston Spa a short time ago by which six buildings were consumed. The loss is estimated at $10,000, some of the property being insured.

Edmund Roberts, of Portsmouth, N. H. has been appointed by the President, Consul of the United States for Demarara.

The elegant domestic manufactured grass hat, sold to col. Robert Patterson, of this city, has been forwarded by that gentleman to Tennessee, as a present to the lady of Gen. Andrew Jackson.

It is said that the president of the United States has pardoned Jones W. Farnsworth, who was convicted at Batavia in New York for forging military land warrants.

A Mr. John Cheever, of Derry township, (Delaware) was killed last week, while chopping fire wood. It seems that a tree which he felled, had bent a sapling over, which split from the trunk, and was thrown back with violence by the raising of the sapling, and struck the deceased in the breast, who, it is believed, expired immediately.

The supercargo of the brig Thetis, lately seized at Lima, writes to his friends at Philadelphia, that after going through all the courts of the place, he has been acquitted of all the charges brought against him, liberated, and his vessel and cargo restored, except 4000 dollars, which the officers had taken, and which they are not able to refund.

Mr. S. Fenner, whilst engaged in taking down the steeple of the Old Presbyterian Church, in Savannah, (Geo.) fell from the same on the morning of the 8th inst. and what is remarkable did not break a bone or sprain a limb, although the height from which he was precipitated is estimated at about seventy-five feet.

A letter was received at one of the banks in Boston, last week, inclosing a sum of money which the unknown writer declares was overpaid him some years since, and which poverty induced him to retain. The supposed amount of interest was added.

Lewis DEPRACON, Esq. formerly Editor of the Democratic, has been appointed a Judge of the Peace for the county of Philadelphia.

In Frankfort, Maine, a lady last week presented her husband with three fine female children a little while, who, at the last date, were, with the mother, in good health.

The net produce of the revenue of the British Government for the year ending January 5, 1823, was £20,127,994.

A number of the merchants mechanics and retailers of Norfolk have entered into an agreement not to receive, after the 25th inst. either in payment of debts, or for any article of merchandise, notes under the denomination of five dollars. It appears that a law to that effect was enacted by the Legislature of Virginia, as long ago as February, 1820; but that has hitherto remained inoperative.

The schr. Oliver H. Perry, of Barnstable, Mass. was lost on the night of the 11th inst. on her passage from Kingston, Jam. She stranded on Gold Spring, near Cape May. The cargo was consigned to John Goddard, Esq. of Philadelphia, and will be principally lost. The captain perished on the wreck, and two seamen and a passenger were washed overboard.

It is reported, that Prince Leopold has offered this hand to the widow of the ex-emperor Napoleon, and she was a decided refusal.

The following is an extract of a letter from a gentleman in Mecklenberg, N. C. to a gentleman in Charleston, dated 11th Feb. 1823.

"One of the most affecting scenes has occurred in this neighborhood. The house and property of Mr. Robert Walkup, was consumed by fire about 12 o'clock on the night of the 7th inst. What is most lamentable, five persons, principally young women, (four of them his own children), and a son of H. H. H., were entirely consumed in the flames, as they lay up stairs!! The persons caught fire by accident. Mr. Wm. F. F., brother of the late Rev. Dr. Flinn, of Charleston, escaped by jumping out of the window, but unfortunately broke his legs. It was an awful scene to behold last morning."

Extract of a letter from a gentleman residing at Washington, on the St. Lawrence, dated March 15th, 1823.

"The bill pending before the Legislature proposing the passing of a Canada money, causes me great excitement on this frontier—there is but little money circulating with us, and should we have more from the country, I fear the tax would not be collected. Our merchants are also much alarmed at the accounts from Montreal, that their wares and provisions will not be suffered to come through from this side."

Mexico.—A letter from Alvarado, dated Feb. 10, says—Some troops have marched into Mexico, and I think the Emperor is likely to be in a precarious situation. The country money he has issued, for the payment of his troops, the holders have no other security than his pledge. Dollars are very scarce, and the charge of officers every week incurs great confusion.

... We are sorry for it. He will not be pleased with the United States. Neither their climate nor their manners are sensualized, as in Italy. He will find that his mind has travelled in advance of his person, and withered the flowers that he hopes for in his path. He will behold the pious recoiling from apostate genius—the beautiful shuddering at the profaner of innocence—and the virtuous republican, sneering at the vices of peagee.

Evening Post.

PHILADELPHIA.

Saturday, March 22, 1823.

*"Man, vain man, clothed in a little brief authority,
Plays such fantastic tricks before high Heaven,
As makes e'en angels weep."*

It is really astonishing to an unprejudiced mind that men who have been chosen by their fellow citizens to protect their rights, and who pretend to have the interest of their constituents at heart, should be so far led away from justice, and even expediency, as to pass laws prejudicial to those constituents, and derogatory to their own honor, with scarce a redeeming clause, to cover their naked deformity.

The present militia system of this state, embraces in its operations, perhaps as many evils and wrongs, with as few advantages to counterbalance them, as any to be found in the overloaded Code, which the combined wisdom of our legislative wisacres have produced in the course of so many years of study and labour.

But the present legislature seem disposed even to out-herod Herod in the extraordinary views which they take of this subject. A bill to make the Civil subservient to the Military law has passed the Senate—a bill legalizing Robbery, and to prevent those who may act improperly in executing unconstitutional edicts from being brought to justice. It provides that if any of the civil officers shall issue process, or in any manner whatsoever take cognizance of any suit or action against a militia officer or his agent concerned in the execution of the militia laws, for any thing done by them, every such officer so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor in office, and his proceedings shall forthwith be declared null and void. The bill is entitled "An act to further restrain Aldermen and Justices of the Peace from taking cognizance of suits against Militia officers."

As a practical comment on this anti-republican text, we give the following circumstances of an occurrence which, we are informed, took place in this city a short time since. A militia fine of four Dollars was demanded from a respectable Merchant of this city which he did not consider himself bound to pay; whereupon, the Constable, passing by articles of furniture near the value of his demand, seized a valuable desk and bore it away. He sacrificed it for a trifling consideration, and pocketed the product, thinking it unnecessary to refund the balance!

In such cases as this, no relief can be obtained. Unworthy myrmidons have a despotic power granted them, not subjected to the control that binds common men. When such enormities as these are suffered to pass with impunity, we may bid adieu to civil and religious liberty.

DESPATCH.—On Thursday morning, Gabriel Carns, was brought before the Mayor, having been detected in attempting to steal, the evening previous, a trunk containing merchandize valued at $153 28, from out behind a wagon which was passing up Market street, destined for Lexington Kentucky. The culprit is an old offender, and it appears was on bail for trial, being charged with having stolen boots and shoes to the amount of $8 25, in January last. In consideration of these facts, a bill was immediately despatched to the Grand Jury, who soon after returned it "true bill." He was then brought before the bar, when he pleaded guilty, and was sentenced by the court to six years at hard labour. From the time he had his hearing before the Mayor to when he received his sentence, did not occupy the space of two hours.

FIRE.—That noble and splendid edifice, Washington Hall, has become a prey to the devouring flames. On Monday morning last, about three o'clock, they were discovered to issue out of the south-west corner, which spread with indescribable fury until the whole building was enveloped in a vivid mass of fire, that emitted large burning flakes, which were carried by the wind, at the time very high, for several squares—and threatened destruction to much valuable property in the neighbourhood. The adjoining Hotel, kept by Mr. Renshaw, was greatly injured, particularly the furniture, bedding, &c. It may be said that one hundred and fifty thousand dollars will not cover the losses sustained by this deplorable event. The Hotel was insured in the sum of $10,000, and the Hall $5000. It has not been satisfactorily ascertained whether this fire will be the effect of accident or design.

A boat was capsized on Tuesday afternoon about three o'clock, between the Jersey shore and the island, and three passengers were precipitated into the river. Two boats put off from Camden and brought them safe to shore. Turner Camac, Esq. was one of the passengers; he was much exhausted when the relief came.

A bullock, fattened by Job Tyler, of New-Jersey, was brought to this city on Monday, said to be the fattest and largest ever exhibited in Philadelphia. The meat was exposed to sale at the Jersey market, this morning.

The Bill altering the charter of St. Mary's Church, has been again called up in the Senate, and after some discussion was ordered to be transcribed for a third reading—Ayes 21, noes 7.

The Bill submitted by Mr. Baker of Philadelphia county, appropriating $40,000 to aid in completing the New State Penitentiary, has passed the House of Representatives, and been sent to the Senate for concurrence.

On Wednesday, the Bill to renew the charter of the Philadelphia bank passed through committee of the whole in the senate, without amendment, as it went up from the other house.

FROM LA GUAYRA.

It will be gratifying to every friend of South American liberty to find that the political situation of the Republic of Colombia, is progressing with a steady pace to that state of stability and internal security which leaves scarcely a doubt of her becoming as prosperous and happy as her most sanguine friends could expect. The schr. Fox, capt. Durkee, has arrived at the port of Baltimore from La Guayra, having sailed from the latter port on the 26th February. A letter dated at La Guayra on the 20th Feb. communicates the following gratifying intelligence:—"The political state of the country, we are happy to say, is of the most pleasing kind, as it relates to the war. Morales has sent a flag of truce or cartel to this place with prisoners to exchange, from Maracaybo, by which we learn that place is closely blockaded by sea, and that General Montillo was about to advance on it with a very considerable force, against which the Spanish General had but a very inferior number to oppose. There is but little doubt that the result will be favourable to the Republic; in which case not only Maracaybo but Porto Cabello is expected to capitulate."

THEATRICAL.

The new Drama of the "Pioneers," founded on the Tale of that name, has been for a time preparing at the Park Theatre, New-York, and a prospect of its speedy representation held forth, but in consequence of the accident which happened a few nights ago to Mr. Maywood, who was selected to personate the character of Leather Stocking, the play has been unavoidably postponed. This gentleman was knocked down by one of the hacks, as he was returning from the Theatre, and seriously injured.

The Theatre at Cincinnati, Ohio, was opened on the evening of the 6th inst. with the comedy of the Soldier's Daughter—the intrigue of Little Red Riding Hood, and the farce of Ella Rosenberg. In the list of dramatic persons we notice the names of Mr. Forrest, Mrs. Pelby, Mrs. and Miss Riddle, Mrs. Eberle, and Miss Fenton, all of Philadelphia.

The Boston Palladium of Tuesday last, says, "Mr. WALLACE was last evening received by as numerous, fashionable and brilliant an audience as has graced our theatre this season, in the favourite character of ROLLA, with bursts of applause amounting almost to enthusiasm. He more than compensated them by the most chaste and elegant representation of the Peruvian hero which was ever witnessed on the Boston boards. KEXBLE was the favourite "Rolla" in London, but he has retired, and there remains no doubt that Mr. WALLACE ranks first in the character, both in Europe and America.

The Corporation of New Orleans, have passed a resolution to lend Mr. J. A. Caldwell, $6000, to assist him in completing the American Theatre, paying in one, two, and three years; and, also, to extend for the same period, a loan made to Mr. John Davis, to enable him to complete the Orleans Theatre.

We understand that Mr. COOPER, the Tragedian, is now performing at New-Orleans.

LA DILIGENCE.

Remedy for the Piles.
THE Medicine now offered to the public is one which has been fully subjected to the infallible test of experience, and in every instance where it has been fairly tried, it has been attended with the most complete success. In some of the cases the patients had been labouring under this disease for years, and during that period had received the best medical advice, and had even undergone a painful surgical operation without permanent advantage. It is not like those usually advertised, offered as an infallible cure for a long catalogue of diseases, but those afflicted with this complaint, or which alone it is recommended, may rely with confidence upon obtaining relief even in its worst forms in a short time, and they themselves are the best judges of the importance of such a remedy. Price 50 cents per box; (with directions) which generally effects a cure. Prepared and sold at JAMES A. AUSTIN'S Drug and Chemical Store, No. 273, North Thirdstreet, Philadelphia.

TOOTH ACHE CURED,
Instantaneously and without pain, even where all the known applications have failed to afford relief.
S. MILFORD, Dentist,
FROM LONDON,
ASSURES those who may be disposed to try his remedy, that he will make a perfect cure, and enable the patient to chew with the teeth that were affected, even though the complaint had been aggravated by bad treatment. In less than forty eight hours after the pain is cured, Mr. M. can plug the tooth with the greatest ease to the patient. Black and yellow teeth cleansed and brought to their original colour, and prevented from decaying, if it has commenced. He also separates and makes the teeth even, and takes away the decayed parts. Artificial teeth neatly fixed and Stumps and Teeth extracted.
Milford's Tooth Powder.
This highly approved and valuable Powder, is excelled by none in use; it not only gives the Teeth an elegant polish but preserves and hardens the gums—Price 25 cents.

A vertical strip of lighter, possibly white or light gray, material runs along the left edge, suggesting a hinge or a different material used for the spine. The main surface is dark and has a grainy, mottled appearance with some lighter spots and fibers visible. There is no text or other markings on the surface.

THE OLIO.

"VARIETY'S THE VERY SPIRIT OF LIFE, THAT GIVES IT ALL ITS FLAVOUR."

FOR THE SATURDAY EVENING POST.
SOLUTION OF THE ENIGMA.

Which appeared in the Evening Post, of March 8.
It euen, the brother of Joseph was grieved;
A sac of old, by his son was deceived;
Caleb gave springs at his daughter's request,
Hiram loved David and did him assist;
A biathar escaped from the fury of Saul,
When by his command a whole city did fall;
Ruth did refuse from her mother to stray,
David went barefoot and wept on his way.

Mephioseth, Saul's grandson, was lame in his feet,
O badiah, a servant, Elijah did meet,
Tubal-Cain, first artificer of iron and brass,
Tidal for monarch of nations did pass.

JEUNESSE.

AN ENIGMA.

A primitive river that flows in the East,
He who entertained angels and made them a feast,
A king who by the sword of a prophet died,
An apostle whose surname expresses a rock,
A mount where a Lawgiver guarded his flock;
A man whom his father compared to an ass,
An idol condemned through the fire to pass,
A daughter of one who was found without guile,
And the mother of him who was bound on the pile.

The initials of these, will a person express,
Whom long for his faithfulness many will bless,
Whom Calumny's voice is unable to move,
But whose work is to advance the religion of love.

JEUNESSE.

Appearance—I became poor, and my apparel soon evinced it—I was universally avoided—I passed through the street as through a desert. I had three old hats—I gave them all for a new one, but it on, and went out—I was immediately accosted by dozens. My wife contrived to get up one tolerable coat out of two old ones
—I put that on also, and went out—every one now recognised me, and I was shaken hands with at every corner.

Those that have unfortunately more brains than bank notes, can apply the moral.

By a late account from the Springs, the visitors at Saratoga and Ballston had increased to 1500;
among whom were Joseph Bonaparte, the Captain that conveyed Napoleon from Elba to France, and the British and Spanish Ambassadors.—A French gentleman after having with much difficulty obtained lodgings for one night, departed for N. York, and explained the reason for his sudden return thus:
"If you want to see the beautiful woman, Sargo to Baltimore—if you want to see the stiff gentleman, go to Philadelphia—if you want to see the active merchant, go to New-York; but if you want to see one pack of miserable fools, go to Saratoga Springs."

leave to acquaint his friends and the public, that on account of the great demand for the Balm of Co- lumbia in Great Britain, and particular family affairs, he intends taking his departure, with his family, in a few months, from Philadelphia, and therefore thinks it his duty to inform his patrons, that it would be well for them to lay in a stock of his BALM for family use, as he does not intend to leave an Agent in the United States.

Its utility as a preventative for the falling off and restoring of hair is universally allowed and approved by thousands who have used, or seen it tried; therefore it is unnecessary to enter into a long detail of its other virtues. It is now made nearly colourless, and still retains its former virtues. It is prepared and sold, as usual, at his establishments No. 554 South Front street, and at

A. ATKINSON'S

Superior Patent Spring Riding Saddles and Patent Laporte Bridles, &c.
HAVING purchased of JOHN J. MORRIS, of the city of New-York, the sole and entire right of making and vending his newly invented SPRING SEAT and SPRING POINTED SADDLES, within the city and county of Philadelphia, offers them for sale,
At his Saddle and Harness Manufactory, No. 5 North Fifth street.

Gentlemen are respectfully invited to call and see the principle on which they are constructed.— Nearly two years' trial of the above Saddles in New-York, has rendered comments unnecessary—confident of their utility he offers them to the public, that they may decide on their superiority.
The Laporte Bridles are constructed in such a manner as to curb the most vicious Horses without injuring him, and with perfect ease and safety to the rider. They are well adapted for Ladies, and persons not in the practice of riding, as it gives them full power over their Horses in cases of fright.—
They can also be applied to Harness of every description. Also, for sale, an assortment of Superior STEEL and PLATED BITTS and STIRRUPS.

N. B. Gentlemen can be accommodated with Spring Saddles for trial, if required. June 15-12

Distress in the West.
MUCH distress exists in this City—originating solely from the teeth; owing, in a great degree, to the manner in which the business of the Dentist has been conducted. If information had been publicly given, many of the most distressing cases might have been prevented—timely application would have been made—the teeth would have been properly treated, and many persons who now are almost destitute of teeth, would still enjoy them. But it has been so unfashionable to advertise, that no dentist of any celebrity would risk his popularity by giving publicity to information so much required. But these injurious prejudices have been partially dissipated, and Williams now has the satisfaction of seeing advertisements and public information much more respected, and, he hopes, in a few years, the complaints and lamentations which are now heard so frequently, will cease.

Williams performs every operation requisite for One Dollar and fixes teeth in the mouth on moderate terms.
Office, No. 172 Vine, near Fifth street.
